Independent Verification

When it comes to making lending decisions today, there is no room for doubt. As a lender, you need to verify the accuracy of loan information, ensure your applications are free of fraud and errors, and meet compliance requirements. Independent verification from Kroll Factual Data provides thorough, impartial knowledge to help eliminate doubt and increase confidence in loan processing.

Verifying is believing. Mistakes happen, as do less-innocent activities. With our independent verification solutions, you can be confident your decisions are based on accurate information. We instantly verify the identity of applicants, confirm their willingness and ability to pay, monitor your portfolio for risk of default, and protect you from collusion and criminal fraud schemes. Our comprehensive services cover all aspects of your verification needs, providing reliable, actionable intelligence to support your lending decisions.

Kroll Factual Data is your independent verification specialist. With more than 25 years of experience analyzing consumer data, we have the expertise to help lenders, servicers, and financial institutions make qualified lending decisions that will transfer risk, enhance safety and soundness, and increase profitability. By providing impartial and manually verified information, our independent verification solutions improve the quality of loans and enable more efficient loan processing.

Independent Verification solutions
